

Make Your Dreams Come True

Sherbet Events Ltd.

“Are you thinking of holding a special family celebration back in the UK this year - your parent’s wedding anniversary or perhaps a birthday party? Maybe it’s your big day, and you want to tie the knot back in old Blighty? Pressed for time, and thousands of miles from home, how do you ensure that your special day really is the memorable occasion you’d hoped for?” asks Rose Foreman, Director of Sherbet Events Ltd.

The Expat magazine connected with Rose Foreman because we have personal experience with this very issue. A lot of our friends are international school teachers who lament the role logistics plays in their plans. We think that by giving Rose’s company, Sherbet Events Ltd., exposure to our large audience of expats, it will be beneficial for all parties concerned. We asked Rose to discuss her company and how it can serve our readers. She replies below:

“I’ve a number of friends who live abroad, all leading amazingly busy lives, and it was talking with them that made me realise what a challenge they faced trying to organise special events back home (UK). I felt they needed a personalised event management service, based in the UK to organise it on their behalf. Someone who could inspire, create, and deliver fun, memorable occasions that have the ‘wow!’ factor, leaving them able to relax in confidence and enjoy their occasion. I set up Sherbet Events Ltd with the aim of delivering exactly that.

“I was having this conversation with my friend Caroline one gloriously sunny day last November, when I came to visit her in KL. Caroline was telling me about a friend who had organised a surprise family reunion back home last year to celebrate her parent’s Golden Wedding Anniversary. ‘She said it turned into a logistical nightmare!’ recalled Caroline. ‘And in the end, it was all a bit of a disappointment. When you live over six thousand miles away, just how do you cope with all that organising and co-ordinating? And try doing that with a seven or eight hour time difference.’

“Caroline had a point! You can’t jump on a plane every five minutes to check if things are running smoothly. You need to have the confidence that your celebration will be exactly as you had visualised it: great venue, fabulous food and wine, superb service, and lots of personal finishing touches... a truly memorable special occasion.

“We now have valuable experience across many areas – Corporate Events – Weddings – Birthdays – Celebrations – Garden Parties – Reward & Team Building.

“So why would you want to chose Sherbet Events to organise your celebration? Our principles are simple:

1. We really listen to your requirements; we offer professional advice and remain flexible at all times.
We have a real passion for creating an unforgettable day for you, and we know from experience that we can only accomplish this if we understand your specific wishes. We can help you visualise what the day will look and feel like beforehand. We won't confuse you with a myriad of options without helping you make the right decision. Once we know what you want to achieve, we aim to exceed your expectations!
2. We can organise everything from the inception through to the event. We plan, manage, and co-ordinate all aspects of your requirements.
Your event is tailored for you around a number of components (food, drinks, music, and so on), depending on the occasion and your budget. We invite you to chose from a menu of options, using our Bronze, Silver, and Gold approach. We can do everything from organising the invitations, finding the right caterers, providing marquees, themed dressings, entertainment, a photographer, even luxury 'Porta-loos' if required! We also work with a number of tried and tested venues that could be perfect for your family gathering, whether your requirements be for a house party in a beautiful country manor that sleeps 30, or a fairy tale castle in Scotland. We'll happily take care of it all for you, and be there on your day behind the scenes, to make sure it all runs smoothly.

3. We'll keep you informed every step of the way.
You need the confidence that everything is progressing to plan, so we'll keep you updated in a timely fashion; no last minute phone calls to make an important decision!
4. We pride ourselves on paying meticulous attention to detail, understanding that it is these finishing touches that add the 'wow!' factor.

“Whether it's creating a themed party, or ensuring that special dietary requirements are catered to, (including Aunt Flo's love of all things chocolate!), our aim is to inspire, create, and deliver an unforgettable event that will delight you and your guests.”
